Kohler, who is twenty-six and paid only 26 cents a feet for its prop-Leed, she says, in Camden in 1906, soon after she had received $5,000 from the estate of her father, a retired sea captain. When the money was gone, she alleges, he lost inter-

Newark, that she gave her entire energy to the chase.

Mrs. Kohler, who with her mother had moved to Philadelphia, got a tip, she says, that her husband was here and came to New York looking for a job and her quarry at the same time. Iwo days ago she went into a Fortysound street theatre, and there saw the animated portrait of her hus-

She went to Newark where, she rays, the clerk of Essex County vestigated the records with her and assisted her in securing a warrant. Then she came straight back to the moving picture theatre and asked some questions of the manager. He told her where his films came from and she trailed down the Indian scenario until she found where it was manufactured and there was told that Mr. and Mrs. Kohler were living at No. 403 West One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street.

"Mrs. Kohler, indeed!" she snapped. I'm the original and only Mrs. Koh-

Mrs. Kohler rented a room at the One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street address and took the police into her confidence. Detective Jailey was assigned to the case last night. He had reason to believe the actor might be on the alert, so an agile Ember of the force was stationed at the foot of the fire-escape connected with Kohler's apartments. Then Balley knocked at the door. What do you want?" Kohler de-
